

 Pre-appointment guide:
Oncology

Your pet has been booked in to come to Hamilton Specialist Referrals for a specialist consultation. During the consultation the specialist will make a plan with you based on the clinical examination findings and they may advise further diagnostic tests or procedures. We are sometimes able to offer this on the same day, depending on availability.

Further investigations may require sedation or anaesthesia, and therefore require preparations prior their appointment. If you would like the option for further investigations on the same day, please follow the below instructions unless specifically told otherwise.

You do not have to bring anything with you for your appointment, as we should have received all relevant information from your vet, however it can be useful to bring any medications that your pet is currently receiving.

NO FOOD SHOULD BE GIVEN SIX HOURS BEFORE YOUR PET'S APPOINTMENT

We are unable to undergo investigations for pets that have eaten in the 6 to 8 hours prior to the consultation. This is very important to prevent regurgitation under sedation or anaesthetic. Water should always be available. If your pet is diabetic, please contact the hospital for specific starving instructions.

On the day

Oncology consultations usually last around 60 minutes. The consultant will talk to you about your experience of your pets' symptoms at home and talk through the clinical notes sent over from your local veterinary practice. The consultant will give you their assessment and advice for next steps, and will work with you to create a treatment plan that suits you and your pet.

If further investigations are recommended, there is no obligation to do these on the day, or even with us. We do not perform any tests or procedures without your informed consent and are here primarily to advise and help you make the best decisions for your pet. If you would like to proceed with investigations straight away, we are often able to accommodate imaging on the same day as your consultation, subject to availability. Surgical procedures, if required, are usually booked for a later date.

Next Steps

At the end of your consultation, your specialist will hand you back over to our Client Care Team who will take payment for the consultation, book in for any future appointments, or take a deposit if your pet is staying in for imaging or treatment. They are also happy to help with insurance queries.

Videos and photos

It can often be helpful to see pictures or videos of your pet showing symptoms prior to your appointment; this can be useful for animals that may act differently in front of strangers or in a new environment, or for patients who are showing symptoms inconsistently.

If your pet has symptoms that can be seen on video, this could be useful for the specialist to see in preparation for your consultation.

Videos are not obligatory, if you are unable to take a video at home please attend your consultation as normal.

These Terms and Conditions shall apply to all supplies of Veterinary Services and Products by us to you to the exclusion of all other Terms and conditions. Please note that some aspects of these Terms may not be relevant to you, and we suggest you ask for further clarification from us if required.

If our original estimate looks as if it will be exceeded, then the Veterinary Surgeon responsible for providing the Veterinary Services will discuss any increased fees with you before any further procedures are undertaken (save in the event of an emergency and at the professional discretion of the relevant Veterinary Surgeon acting in the best interest of your pet).
- 1.4 We will endeavour to provide Veterinary Services in accordance with reasonable standards denoted by the RCVS guidelines for practice standards and the professional conduct of Veterinary Surgeons and veterinary nurses. All Veterinary Services shall be supplied in accordance with normal professional standards.
