

Applying Topical Medication to your horse

The main rules are to WEAR GLOVES and apply at the frequency, dilution and amount/ volume specified by your veterinary surgeon or on the product label.

Products such as Deosect require diluting to a set volume with warm water and mixing thoroughly- the volume depends on the size of your horse so please check the label. Instructions for how to apply and the frequency of application are also on the label but if you have any questions please ask your vet.

We recommend performing a patch test prior to using any new topical product- a small volume should be applied to a small area on the horse 24 hours before applying to the whole horse- this is to check for any adverse reactions.

Any leftover diluted product should be disposed of carefully.

If your horse appears distressed after application or has a reaction to the produce please contact 01260280800
